CALLED TO ORDER.

The Fifty-first Congress in Session.

Republicans Organize the House as Arranged in Caucus.

Speaker Reed's Address on Assuming the Chair.

How the California Delegation Fared in the Drawing for Seats—A Brief Session of the Senate.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate.—In the Senate little or no excitement attended the opening of the Fifty-first Congress. Public curiosity seemed largely transferred to the House. Interest on the floor was devoted largely to Senators from the new States. They had seats assigned them on the Republican side. Senator Casey of North Dakota took his seat on the end of the second row, against the north wall. Directly behind him sat the Washington Senators, Allen and Squire; while Pettigrew and Moody of South Dakota sat in the fourth row, near the center of the room. Senator Pierce of North Dakota has his seat in the fourth row, but he was not present today. On the Democratic side there are two seats so far unassigned. They will be occupied by the Senators from Montana when they have been chosen.

At noon the Vice-President entered the Senate Chamber. The Chaplain opened the proceedings with prayer.

The oath of office was administered by the Vice-President to Senators Chandler of New Hampshire and Nathan F. Dixon of Rhode Island.

The credentials of Messrs. Moody and Pettigrew of South Dakota and Allen and Squire of Washington were presented.

Mr. Platt moved that the oath of office be administered.

The motion was agreed to and the four new Senators, each escorted by a Senator, proceeded to the Clerk's desk amid applause from the galleries and took the oath of office.

Messrs. Edmunds and Harris were appointed a committee to join a like committee from the House to inform the President that Congress was ready to receive any communication he may choose to make.

A resolution providing for a continuance of the Select Committee on the Transportation and Sale of Meat Products was agreed to.

Mr. Aldrich offered a resolution (laid over) for the appointment of a select committee of nine Senators, to be called the Quadro-centennial Committee, to which shall be referred all matters connected with the proposed celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America. Adjourned.

House.—At noon Clerk Clark called the House to order. The roll-call showed the presence of 327 members, the three absentees being Messrs. O'Neall of Indiana, Randall of Pennsylvania and Whitthorne of Tennessee.

Mr. Reed was placed in nomination for Speaker by Mr. Henderson of Illinois. Mention of Mr. Reed's name was the signal for applause on the Republican side, which

The voting resulted: Reed, 166; Carlisle, 134; Cummings of New York, 1.

Reed having been declared elected Speaker, was escorted to the chair by McKinley and Carlisle amid applause, and the oath of office was administered by Kelley of Pennsylvania. Randall of Pennsylvania was paired with Wilbur of New York.

Speaker Reed said: "I thank you for the high office which your voices have bestowed upon me. It has been impossible not to be moved by its dignity and honor, yet you may well imagine that I am at this moment more than ever impressed by its responsibilities. Under our system of government as it has been developed, these responsibilities and duties are both political and parliamentary. So far as the duties are political, I sincerely hope they may be performed with a proper sense of what is due to both sides of the chamber. [Applause.]

"To the end that I may be successful in carrying out your wishes, I invoke the considerate judgment and cordial aid of all the members of this House." [Loud and long-continued applause.]

The next step in the organization was the swearing in of the members-elect, and as they ranged themselves in squads of 20 at a time in the space in front of the Clerk's desk the oath was administered by the Speaker.

The House then proceeded to the election of other officers. Edward McPherson was elected Clerk; A. F. Holmes, Sergeant-at-Arms; C. A. Adams, Doorkeeper; James L. Wheat, Postmaster.

When it came to the election of Chaplain there was a fight. Rev. Charles B. Ramsdale, the nominee of the Republican caucus, was defeated, and the Chaplain of the last House, William H. Millburn, the blind preacher, was reelected. These officers were then sworn in.

Messrs. McKinley, Cannon and Carlisle were appointed a committee to inform the President that the House was organized and ready to proceed to business.

Mr. Perkins of Kansas offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing for the drawing of seats by lot.

On motion of Mr. McCreary of Kentucky a resolution was adopted the effect of which was to permit ex-Speakers Banks, Randall and Carlisle and Kelley of Pennsylvania to select their seats.

In accordance with Mr. McCreary's resolution, Mr. Banks selected a seat to the left of the Speaker's desk, well in front. Mr. Randall's old seat was secured for him, and Mr. Kelley selected that which he occupied for many years. Mr. Carlisle selected a seat across the aisle from that occupied at the last session, by Mr. Mills. Then the lottery began, and "P" proved the lucky letter, the first three names called being Perry, Paynter and Perkins. Messrs. Grosvener, Breckenridge of Kentucky, Mason of Illinois and Cannon were favorites of fortune, and retained their old desks.

Mr. McKinley obtained a desk well in the center of the House, with Mr. Hitt of Illinois as his neighbor. The first fortunate New Yorkers were Mr. Farquhar, who seated himself in front of Mr. McKinley, and Mr. Flower, who chose the seat which he occupied before. Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts preferred the companionship of Messrs. McKinley and Hitt, to the more prominent position, and joined the little group which had surrounded these popular members. Mr. Mills of Texas secured a seat much less advantageously situated than at the last session.

Of the California delegation Mr. Vandever secured the first choice, and took the seat formerly occupied by Ezra R. Taylor, Garfield's successor in the House. Mr. McKenna got a seat fully as good as the one he occupied at the last session, but Mr. Morrow fared worse, while Mr. de Haven was seated more to the left. Mr. Clunie was among the first of the delegation to draw, but after the roll had been called it was found that Mr. Biggs of California and Mr. Mutchler of Pennsylvania had been left out, and he had to be accommodated otherwise.

The drawing was concluded, and the Sergeant-at-Arms-elect appeared at the bar of the House and qualified.

Mr. Bayne of Pennsylvania offered a resolution directing the Speaker to appoint committees on rules, accounts, enrolled bills and mileage, each to consist of the same number of members as is provided for by the rules of the Fiftieth Congress, and referring the rules of the Fiftieth Congress to the Committee on Rules. Adopted.

Adjourned.

THE MESSAGE.

It Will Appear in a Second Edition of "The Times."

The annual message of President Harrison came over the wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company to THE TIMES during last night, but with strict injunctions that it should not be made public until released by proper authority, which it is expected will be done immediately upon commencement of its reading in Congress, shortly after 12 o'clock, noon (Washington time), which will be about 9 o'clock a.m. here. As soon as the message is released it will be printed in a second edition of THE TIMES, to be issued at a later hour of the day.

TARIFF LEGISLATION.

Senator Allison Thinks There Will Be Some at This Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Senator Allison is reported in a local paper as saying, in reply to the question as to what prospects there was of legislation on the tariff at this session: "There will be some legislation on the tariff. Whether it will be on the lines of the bill prepared by the Senate Finance Committee at the last session is too broad a question to answer now. I think this Congress will accomplish a great deal of work. The country expects a great deal of us, and I don't think they will be disappointed."

In the Democratic caucus today the following was adopted without division:

"Resolved, that we, Democratic members of the House of the Fifty-first Congress, at the beginning of the first session, hereby send greeting to the people of the country and assurance of our continuous confidence in and devotion to the principles of tariff reform as embraced in Cleveland's message to the last Congress upon that subject, and in the platform of principles adopted at the last Democratic National Convention at St. Louis; that we hail with delight the emphatic approval of those principles by the people as expressed at the polls in the recent elections, and pledge them to renew and continue in Congress the contest for the reduction of war taxes so ably begun and prosecuted by our Representatives and Senators."

The questions of election of permanent officers and modification of House rules were postponed, and the caucus adjourned.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Report of the Commission—Improvements in the System.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of the Civil Service Commission calls special attention to the need of adequate means to carry on the work. The number of applicants examined during the last fiscal year was nearly double that during the preceding year, while the working force remained exactly the same. The commission asks for the appropriation of $53,000 for the next fiscal year.

After reviewing the changes and improvements in the system at great length, the report says: "The merit of the system of making appointments, as contrasted with the patronage system, is no longer in the experimental stage. Wherever its trial has

Red Rice's.

328, 330, 332, 334, and 336 S. Spring.

LOS ANGELES, DEC. 1.—RED RICE'S establishment most sincerely returns thanks for the great patronage bestowed upon us during the two weeks just past. So great has been the demand that it has taxed the capacity of even our great aggregation of household goods to supply the demand. Never before in the history of this lucky house has the trade been so great. For these favors we again tender our heartfelt thanks. We offer this as a suggestion to the curious to ponder upon. In new furniture, etc., we buy cheaper than any other house in the city because we handle in larger quantities. We handle larger quantities because we sell cheaper. In second-hand goods we pay higher prices than any other house, and we sell for less price because doing so large a business we can afford to do it on a less percentage of profit. Whether you wish to buy or sell, it is money for you to get prices at Red Rice's—then you are sure to be posted.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

After the Public Library Management—New Members.

The Historical Society, at its meeting last night, heard two interesting papers, and became exercised about the relations between itself and the Public Library. Prof. J. M. Guinn treated the "boom" in a sensible, yet a humorous paper; and Father José Adam, vicar-general of the district, read a very interesting description of "Travels in Palestine."

The gentlemanly row which stirred up the members was in regard to a report which Secretary Stephens had heard—that the library directors were attempting to secure curios and valuable documents and books, encroaching upon the field of the society. Upon a statement by President Jones, who is one of the library directors, the excitement subsided, and the society concurred in the sentiment that the library and the society could work upon parallel plans to their mutual benefit.

Nathan Cole, Jr., J. P. P. Peck, Miss T. L. Kelso, librarian, C. C. Stephens and C. L. Daily were elected members of the society, and it adjourned until next Monday night.

A Fighting Darkey.

A woman named Gertrude Perrett swore out a complaint against a negro gambler named Henry Smiley, yesterday afternoon, charging him with disturbing the peace and threats, and a warrant was issued for his arrest, which was given to Officer Vignes to serve. Vignes found Smiley on Spring street, near Third, in front of Lowe's saloon, and as soon as he showed his warrant Smiley showed fight, and got in a couple of hard blows, blacking the officer's eyes before he could get himself together. The officer then closed with his man, and succeeded in hand-cuffing him and bringing him to the station, where there was another lively "scrap." The fighting darkey was finally got behind the bars where he subsided. Smiley was very ugly at the station, and abused the officers for some time, using the vilest language. His case will come up before Judge Stanton today, when it is probable that he will receive his just deserts.

East Side Items.

Rev. Mr. Tinker left yesterday on a lecturing tour. He delivered his illustrated lecture, "From Los Angeles to Paris," last evening at San Bernardino, and this evening he will give it at Colton.

Miss Harrow returned from San Bernardino yesterday, where she has been spending a couple of days with friends. She was delayed for several hours by a washout on the Santa Fé Railroad.

John Barnhill and Ira Hines spent yesterday at Redondo Beach.

W.R.C. Fair.

The W.R.C. Fair closed last night with a ball, and it was a very enjoyable affair. The attendance was large, and the ladies who have given their intelligent and enthusiastic efforts to the fair may well feel proud of the success of the event. It has been one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever given in this city. The officers will hold a business meeting at Armory Hall today between 10 and 12 o'clock, to audit the bills and ascertain the net proceeds.

Robert Beryl, $39,800; F. A. Mulford, $39,995; John Damas, $94,400; Grant, $65,700; Kubsek, $79,117; Collins & Hargitt, $70,983; W. R. Phelps, $63,850. A large number of bids for the eight-room buildings were submitted, ranging from that of L. J. Kelly, $13,997, the lowest, to $16,889, by Garber & Harrington. The number of bids for the two and four-room buildings was also very large, and a special meeting of the joint committee will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to consider all the bids.

HAPPY GRANGERS.

THEY ENJOY A DAY'S DRIVE AND ENTERTAINMENT.

A Whirl About Town and a Visit to Alhambra, Whence They View the San Gabriel Valley—Off for San Diego.

Yesterday morning at 7:35 o'clock about 100 members of the National Grange, who have been in attendance on the session up north, arrived on a special at the Wolfskill depot, accompanied by their families. During the past few weeks the Grangers have been in session in Sacramento, and as soon as they completed their labors they started out to "do" California, under the management of the following commission, which was appointed by the Governor: William Johnson, B. F. Walton, A. T. Dewey, G. W. Hancock and W. L. Overshiner. At the last session of the Legislature $10,000 was appropriated to defray the expenses of the party over the State, and the above commission is managing the excursion party.

When the train pulled into the depot yesterday morning the visitors were met by the Chamber of Commerce Committee, consisting of Maj. E. W. Jones, L. N. Breed and Secretary Higgins, who escorted the party to the depot dining-room, where a regular Southern California breakfast was served. Just after breakfast 25 carriages were driven up to the depot, and the greater part of the forenoon was taken up in driving about the city. The day could not have been brighter, and to say that the visitors enjoyed themselves would be drawing it mild. They all stated that they had been advised by the people of the Northern Citrus Belt to keep away from Southern California, but they declared with one voice that they would not have missed their visit to this section for anything in the world, and if any of them ever visit California again they will make a bee line for Los Angeles.

After driving about the city the party proceeded to the Wolfskill depot at noon and there took a special train for Alhambra. They were escorted by President Jones and Secretary Higgins of the Chamber of Commerce, and at the Alhambra depot were met by citizens on foot and in carriages and shown the town and the alluring vale in which it sits in queenly beauty. The eastern visitors were delighted, and even the Grangers from the Northern Quinine Belt (as for instance Hancock and Cressy) were forced to admit that there is no finer country on God's green earth than the famed San Gabriel Valley, notwithstanding the fact that the Easterners had been advised at Sacramento, and thereabouts, where they spent a week or more, that their trip south would be disappointing. COURT NEWS.

ARRAIGNMENT OF BOYCE FOR BLACKMAILING SET.

Another Case Against Dr. Clark for Practicing Without Recording His License—Piña Sentenced to Five Years—B. Chandler Arraigned—New Suits.

The arraignment of H. H. Boyce, director-general of the Tribune, on the charge of blackmailing Justice Savage of this city, was set by Judge Cheney yesterday for Wednesday. The charge comes as an indictment by the Grand Jury of Los Angeles county, after an investigation of the matters alleged against the defendant.

A new case has been begun against Dr. Royal F. Clark, who was acquitted recently by the Superior Court on a charge of practicing medicine without recording his license. The Doctor is an old practitioner, and it is believed that the suit against him was inspired by interested parties. The principal witnesses against him were Mr. Newcomb, Sr., and Mr. Newcomb, Jr., who figured before that in a suit brought by Dr. Poaps against them for refusing to pay his bill for medical services. They live in Tejunga Valley, and have become disgruntled with Dr. Clark. The new case brought against him is an outgrowth of their petty and ill-advised feelings. He is charged with obstructing an officer in the removal of a stack of hay.

Juan José Piña was before Judge Cheney yesterday morning to receive his sentence for beating Tranquilio Martinez to death near Santa Monica, with his fists. He was convicted last week of manslaughter, and the Court gave him five years at San Quentin. Piña showed no signs of much feeling when the judgment of His Honor was pronounced.

Ex-Councilman B. Chandler, indicted two weeks ago by the Grand Jury, on a charge of extortion, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Cheney, and his time to plead was extended until December 9th.

Jack Dunn's case was transferred by Judge Cheney yesterday to Department No. 6 of the Superior Court. Dunn is accused of receiving stolen property. It is alleged that "Doc" Dowling stole the property, and that he received it.

The District Attorney yesterday asked Judge Cheney to dismiss a charge against James Sweeney for burglary. He made the motion on the ground that the evidence is not sufficient to convict Sweeney. It was granted and the defendant discharged.

A criminal procedure has been brought in the Superior Court against M. S. Cummings, charging him with tearing up the gravel on Lakeview street. It is an appeal case from the Police Court, where Cummings was fined $50. Judge Cheney yesterday transferred the case to Department No. 6.

The damage suit brought by Mrs. Clark against Dr. S. S. Saulsbury was on trial again before Judge Clark yesterday. The case has now lasted nearly a week, and it was not finished yesterday. The testimony of experts was taken yesterday, and they were exhaustively examined, both in direct and cross-examination. The testimony was about all in when court adjourned, and the case will probably go to the jury today.

The trial of Laura E. Sample went on before Judge Shaw yesterday. The line of evidence during the day was almost entirely of an expert character. The effort to prove that the defendant forged the will of Barber Susand, by which she received $5000, was followed up. The experts are all agreed that the will was not written by Susand himself, but they do not agree as to its forgery by the defendant. The most patient efforts have been made by the prosecution and the detectives to lay bare the mystery of the will, but Mrs. Sample's claim that she did not forge the will is stanborn, and it is doubtful whether she will be convicted.

The San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company began suits yesterday to recover judgment for assessments on stock. The suits were brought against A. L. Burbank for $801.50, L. W. Dennis for $1467.50, and A. E. Voight for $591.

A street-assessment suit was brought yesterday against D. B. Boyce and C. E. Crow.

Foreclosure suits was begun by George Miller against L. A. Wright et al. The plaintiff asks judgment against the defendant for $3800, the original promissory note being for $3000.

FINE LINES.

The Difference Between a Boarder and a Guest.

A decision was rendered yesterday by Judge Clark in Department No. 2 of the Superior Court which has some elements of interest out of the usual run. The case is entitled Moore vs. the Long Beach Development Company, and was brought by the plaintiff, a wealthy man, to recover about $4000 damages against the company for property lost in the fire which burned the hotel on the night of November 8, 1888. Mr. Moore, his wife and servant, Mrs. Hanson, were boarding in the hotel at the time, and escaped from the disastrous conflagration with barely the clothes which they wore at the time. Their effects consisted of wearing apparel, jewelry, money and other articles, and they lost them all. The complaint sets forth that in addition to his own effects the plaintiff includes those of his wife and their family servant, whose respective claims were assigned to him.

The answer to the complaint denied the material allegations of the complaint, and set up as a defense that the alleged business of "keeping an inn" was beyond the corporate powers of the company.

Judge Clark prepared quite a lengthy decision in the case. In it he states that the principal issues in the case are as follows:

First—Was the business of conducting a public inn by the defendant ultra vires?

Second—Was the Long Beach hotel conducted as a public inn?

Third—Were the plaintiff and family received as guests or were they received as boarders?

He then goes exhaustively into the legal character of a public inn, quoting a large number of decisions, and comes to the conclusion that the plaintiff has no case. He finds that the general purpose of the company was to buy and sell land, and that the keeper of an inn was not ultra vires. Also that the hotel was a seaside house rather than a commercial house.

He finds from the evidence that the plaintiff at the time he lost his property had no house of his own, but had been boarding at the Nadeau in this city, and went to Long Beach under a contract to pay the hotel $100 a month.

The Court concludes that the plaintiff was not a guest of a hotel, but a boarder, and that the defendant cannot be held liable for the plaintiff's loss. He therefore renders judgment in favor of the defendant.

The Court draws a very fine legal distinction between the plaintiff's status as a boarder instead of a guest. The case is quite an interesting one, and the decision has been watched with curiosity.

THE SCHEMER SCOOPED.

How Hayes's First Message Was Stolen by Correspondents.

In view of the fact that advance copies of President Harrison's message were not given out this year, the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader gives some interesting comments on the stealing of President Hayes's first message, in 1877, as follows:

The most famous job was the stealing of President Hayes's first message, in 1877. The New York Tribune man worked up the scheme, but by a singular fatality that paper was left out in the cold, and rival papers got all the benefit. The Tribune correspondent, by offering to pay any price that was demanded, succeeded in inducing a man in the Government printing office to steal a "proof." Monday was message day, and on the Saturday evening previous the man, with the proof in his pocket, searched along the Row for the office of his co-conspirator. By a mere blunder he went into the office of the New York Times, and the upshot of it was that the representative of that paper secured the proof, for which he paid $1500. He carefully "let in" the Chicago Times and Cincinnati Enquirer, which brought the cost down to $500 apiece—with the added expense of sending 12,000 words by telegraph as "special." But the smartest thing about the affair was achieved by the Chicago Tribune. At both the Washington and home offices of that paper there was a well-defined idea that the message had been stolen and would appear Sunday morning in New York. Arrangements having been made with the telegraph company to promptly handle it, the message was snatched from the first copy of the New York Times that appeared on the street. It was cut into short "takes" and sent to Chicago on 20 wires. Every printer was at his case, and nimble fingers put the matter in type as fast as it came, smoking hot. In an incredibly short time—a little more than an hour—the entire message was telegraphed and "set up." The Tribune containing it was on the streets almost as soon as its neighbor, the Times. Storey of the latter was so incensed at his failure to beat the Tribune that he refused to pay his $500 to the Washington syndicate. He was sued for it, but managed to evade payment, and he never did pay it.

C. H. MERRILL, Manager (during the summer season manager of the Crawford House, White Mountains, N. H.).

If you cannot go out to the Raymond and spend a day, a week, or a month, or the whole season, then go out and stay a few hours. It is well worth your while to see the magnificent view from its piazzas; and that view alone will well repay you, although there are many other interesting features—especially the grand display of flowers in the hotel grounds, which are now under the charge of Mr. C. H. Hovey, the celebrated landscape gardener, formerly of Hovey's Nurseries, Cambridge, Mass. Tourists visiting Los Angeles should make a trip to the Raymond, even if their stay there must necessarily be brief. There are frequent trains between Los Angeles and The Raymond by several lines of railroad. The orchestra consists of four soloists, who render the choicest of music twice each day. A very complete livery is connected with the hotel and it is an excellent starting-point for a drive through the San Gabriel Valley, in which are situated the San Gabriel Mission Church, Rose's winery, Lucky Baldwin's stock farm, the Sierra Madre Villa, and many other places of interest.

Full particulars regarding board and other matters can be obtained by addressing C. H. MERRILL, Manager of The Raymond, East Pasadena, California.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

BOOK-MAKING pays, sometimes. Henry M. Stanley has sold his forthcoming book outright to the Sampson Low Company of London for $200,000.

IT is not alone California which imports large amounts of dairy products. The importation of eggs into the United States during the past nine months has amounted to 110,000,000 eggs. During the month of September alone the importation was nearly 20,000,000. What are the American farmers about?

FOR a sensible people, the Germans endure a vast amount of flummery in connection with their reigning family and their high officials generally. The press of that country is especially to be pitied. Certain editors at Berlin are now being tried for high treason for having printed that Emperor William rode in a second-class coach.

THE statements of the State Board of Health in regard to the infectiousness of consumption may be rather exaggerated, but it seems to be fairly well established that the disease may be caught under certain circumstances. Some sections of the Alps where it was formerly unknown are said now to show many cases, since consumptives went there in numbers. Under these circumstances, it would be well to use common precautions to avoid too close and prolonged contact with consumptive cases, and particularly to enforce cleanly methods where consumptives congregate.

WHEN the Masac concession in Lower California was first granted, involving the employment of large numbers of Chinese, THE TIMES stated that it was merely a blind for the purpose of running Chinese across the line. We have reaffirmed that statement several times since. Of course, the charge was vehemently denied by those interested, but all the same the truth of it is beginning to become manifest. The Chinese are swarming across the Lower California line in such numbers that a Deputy United States Marshal went down to San Diego yesterday to investigate. The profit in smuggling Chinamen into the United States is so great that it will be a difficult task to circumvent those engaged in this business.

IT is only five months since the construction party of American engineers landed at Nicaragua, and they have been much hampered in their operations by the trying tropical rainy weather of the country, yet they have already succeeded in building up the foundations of a town (which will be called America); have landed material for and have commenced the construction of a twelve-mile aqueduct; laid a mile or more of broad-gauge railroad, placed 35 miles of telegraph in operation; cleared the San Juan, Juanillo, Descada and Silico rivers of snags, etc., which obstructed navigation; have built twenty or more permanent camps; landed all the pile-drivers and piles for the breakwater; cleared the first part of the route of the canal; organized a perfect supply and transportation service, an hospital service and an ambulance corps; perfected the sanitary arrangements, that there is only a very small percentage of sickness, and, finally, have done everything possible to win the good will of Nicaragua and show the world what American push and intelligence can do under the most difficult circumstances.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The annual message of President Harrison came over the wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company to THE TIMES during last night, but with strict injunctions that it should not be made public until released by proper authority, which it is expected will be done immediately upon commencement of its reading in Congress, shortly after 12 o'clock, noon (Washington time), which will be about 9 o'clock a.m. here. As soon as the message is released it will be printed in a second edition of THE TIMES, to be issued at a later hour of the day.

OUR DEFECTIVE NAVY.

The report of the Secretary of the Navy contains reading which is both interesting and instructive. He states that the effective force of the United States Navy, when all the ships now authorized are completed, excluding those which by the process of decay and the operation of law will by that date have been condemned, will comprise 11 armored vessels, of which only three are designed for fighting at sea, and 31 unarmored vessels, making a total of 42.

In contrast to these 11 armored vessels, only three of which are effective at sea, and 31 armored vessels, look at the following list of war vessels on the effective list of the principal foreign powers:

	Armored.	Unarmored.	Total.
England	76	291	367
France	57	203	260
Russia	49	119	168
Germany	40	65	105
Holland	24	70	94
Spain	12	78	90
Italy	19	67	86
Turkey	15	66	81
China	7	66	73
Sweden and Norway	20	44	64
Austria	12	44	56

Thus, it will be seen that, not only the second-class powers of Europe, but even China is ahead of us in naval strength. Even when the present building programme is completed the United States cannot take rank as a naval power. The country, as far as its capacity for defense is concerned, is absolutely at the mercy of countries having less than one-tenth of its population, one-thirtieth of its wealth, and one-hundredth of its area. Any one of the powers named could, says the Secretary, without serious difficulty, even after the completion of our fleet as now authorized, secure, in a single raid upon our coast, an amount of money sufficient to meet the expenses of a naval war, an amount, one-half of which, if judiciously expended over a series of years, would be sufficient to afford this country a guaranty of perpetual peace. If the country is to have a navy at all, it should have one that is sufficient for the complete and ample protection of its coast in time of war. If we are to stop short of this, Mr. Tracy thinks we might better stop where we are, and abandon all claim to influence and control upon the sea. To build a navy takes time, especially with our limited capacity, as may be realized from the assertion in this report that, if Congress were ready today to authorize the construction of all the ships that we need, it would be a mechanical impossibility for the country, with its present appliances, to finish them within fifteen years.

The report congratulates the country on the successful work upon the cruisers, built during the past six years, and advocates the building of 40 vessels as early as possible; also, of torpedo boats and the establishment of an auxiliary navy.

The people of the United States are, we believe, fully alive to the need of the construction of an effective navy, and Congress would be justified in taking immediate steps to that end.

DEGRADING GRADES.

While the question of the responsibility of the City Engineer for mistakes and viciously bad grades is under discussion in the forum of public opinion, it may be well to inquire who is at fault for the terrible grades found on Second street, and on the new line of Temple street, where it crosses Vendome and Smith streets, and on the lower end of Believue avenue, leading down from the Sisters' Hospital. These streets are destroyed, by their abominable grades, for all purposes of traffic, and somebody ought to be held responsible for such irreparable injuries to the public. The City Engineer, like the City Attorney, is elected because of his professional skill and learning, and like the City Attorney, should be held responsible for his official conduct. If the City Attorney were interfered with in the discharge of his duties by other officials, he would be apt to tell them not to mind his business, and so the City Engineer should act on his own judgment in establishing the grade of a street, and not follow the dictation of unskillful officers or private citizens. Others are expected to mind their business, and he his.

OUR GRANGER GUESTS.

The members of the National Grange had an opportunity yesterday of obtaining a cursory glance at a small portion of Southern California. It is a subject for special regret that the stay of the gentlemen in this section should be so short. A week to Central California and a day to Southern California is altogether too much like Falstaff's proportion of bread and sack. However, what little the Grangers have seen of Southern California cannot fail to have impressed them. They must have observed that this is a country altogether sui generis. The distinction between Southern California and the States east of the "Rockies" is apparent and marked. The conditions which surround the California agriculturist are altogether different from those amidst which his eastern brother works. The life of the Southern California fruit-grower is not altogether that of the first man who cultivated a garden, before the Fall, but it is a far nearer approach to that blissful condition of affairs than anything which exists among agriculturists in the East.

We do not expect these gentlemen of the National Grange to act as immigration agents for Southern California. All we ask of them is that they tell the truth about us. That we are convinced they will do.

AN ARIZONA PLAN.

Gov. Wolfley of Arizona has gone to Washington chiefly to see if Congress cannot be induced to change its present preëmption and homestead laws as they apply to Arizona, where there are great bodies of land that are practically valueless without irrigation. Settlers are too poor to construct ditches and capitalists are not willing to invest money in irrigation schemes where the settler does not own his land, because no valid lease can be given until after he has occupied the land from one to five years. Gov. Wolfley's idea is that the present laws ought to be amended so that when a man takes up a claim he may be allowed to enter into a contract with the irrigation companies, agreeing to give them a part of his land if they will furnish water for agricultural purposes. If for any cause the settler fails to complete his legal term of residence the law could allow the irrigation companies to take possession, if their part of the contract has been fulfilled.

Such a law would also work beneficially in the arid sections of Southern California, where many poor men have had to relinquish their desert claims through inability to bring water on the land within the time allowed.

THERE is no doubt, says the New York Sun, that the time is rapidly approaching when the great majority of the population of New England will be of foreign blood, Irish and French Canadians more especially, and nearly all of it Roman Catholics. These foreigners are coming in to take up the abandoned farms and work the mills, and as they are so much more prolific they will swamp out the old stock, so far, at least, as numbers go. They will also wipe away old traditions and introduce new, establishing a new moral and religious tone, and new social customs and demands. There will be another New England, and the change will not be for the better.

CURRENT OPINION.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat derives some consolation from this sneer: "There isn't much consolation for Grover Cleveland in the fact that certain States have gone Democratic in 1889 which went otherwise in 1888."

Mr. Cabot Lodge, who wants troops at the polls in Massachusetts and elsewhere in the country, says that the Mugwump is dead. This is interpreted by the Atlanta Constitution to mean that the Mugwump has gone into business as a genuine Democrat.

The Philadelphia Telegram does not attempt to conceal its joy over the possible retirement of Ingalls from public life. It says: "Should Ingalls follow Foraker into retirement the Republican party can contemplate the result of the recent elections with some equanimity."

The Boston Herald exclaims: "Oh, no; Hill and Campbell doesn't sound well at all on a Presidential ticket. It will never do. But there is something pleasingly alliterative in the combination Cleveland and Campbell. It looks as if there were winning qualities in it possibly also."

In some extraordinary way the Rochester Post-Express has ascertained that, in the mean while every tariff reformer ought to understand that the worst enemy of the cause in the country is Mr. Cleveland. "He is working the issue for another nomination—and if he gets it, good-by free trade!" it adds.

Of the recent tragedy in Kentucky, the Charleston News and Courier remarks: "There is no reason why their loss should be deplored—indeed, this tragedy will prove to be the best service they could have rendered to Kentucky if it result in the establishment of a higher standard of manhood than the skill with which a man can handle a knife or pull a trigger."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat can see a thing or two once in a while, as, for instance, when it observes that the contest in Ohio and Iowa, as well as that in New York in 1882, when a plurality of 193,000 was rolled up against Charles J. Folger, demonstrates that a force has begun to manifest itself in politics with which party managers will henceforth be compelled to reckon.

Ten years ago Postmaster-General James ordered 1,000,000 of these postal cards, supposing they would probably be used in a year or so, for they could go anywhere in Europe and cost only 2 cents. In 10 years only 200,000 of them have been sold.

Wade Hampton's Predicament.

SPORTING.

Gossip About Pugilism and Baseball.

After all the fanfare about various California cities bidding against the world for the battle between John L. Sullivan and Peter Jackson, it has been developed that the only genuine offer is that made by the California Athletic Club of $10,000. The $35,000 telegraphed east by the Pacheco club is thought in San Francisco to mean the Southern California club of this city, but it don't, by a long way, for the local club is deep in debt, and couldn't offer a 35-cent purse to any one. San José has repudiated its offer of $25,000. Seattle hasn't any responsible men to back up its proposition, and all that remains is the California Club's offer, which will in all probability be accepted, if any is. However, Garvanza, Rosecrans and Milpitas are yet to be heard from, and possibly John L.'s conceit may be puffed up a little higher.

Harry Jones, who was defeated by Soto in the rooms of the Los Angeles Athletic Club in this city, is matched to fight Jimmy Smith (who ever he may be) in the rooms of the San José Athletic Club, December 30th.

The Murphy-Weir fight takes place this month in San Francisco. Weir is the most eccentric pugilist in the business. He doesn't train at all, but passes his time playing the piano, singing songs, fishing, shooting and making uncomplimentary remarks about Mr. Murphy's face. Mr. Murphy of Australia suggests that Mr. Weir might look at his own face when he gets through with it and see how much he admires it. Notwithstanding Weir's eccentricities, he has never yet met defeat. He is a pugilist, baseballist, song and dance man, actor, jockey and pedestrian all combined; but when Mr. Murphy of Australia gets through with him he will probably learn that pugilism is not his profession by a long shot.

How the mighty have fallen! Here is Jack Dempsey the Nonpareil, the middleweight pride, matched against Cal. McCarthy of Australia for a paltry $1800 purse. Before he met defeat Dempsey wouldn't look at a purse less than $5000, but as the Marine knocked that conceit out of him and won't give him any revenge in return, the only Dempsey, the middleweight champion, must accept the goods the gods provide. The fight will be a good one, and it is a safe bet that Dempsey will win, for this time he will not be over confident nor half trained. His reputation already dimmed rests on this battle, and Jack will certainly neglect no chance to redeem himself.

Base-ball.

At last, through the liberality of three of our brightest and wealthiest young business men, we are to have a base-ball park, and if it is properly managed it will be a success. But the first requisite to success is a good local team, and that we have not as yet. The present Los Angeles teams are a long way from being good enough to carry the name of our city on their pennant. While they are all fine young men, they are not ball-players enough for this city.

Let the owners of the park procure a first-class team—one able to play any nine in the State—enter them in the State League, have good games scheduled for this city and base-ball will pay; but with a local team only a little better than amateurs, success will be a long way off.

The Boston team is now in San Francisco, and other teams will soon be on the coast. Some good ball-playing will be witnessed here as soon as we have good grounds. Give us a good local team and our base-ball cranks will be happy. Business men, however, ought to help out the local management. Good base-ball will always bring strangers and money here, and it is to their interest to encourage the movement. KENILWORTH.

The Republic of Colombia as an El Dorado.

[Hon. Ricardo Becerra, in Harper's.]

The country for the most part, owing to the inequalities of its surface, presents to the eye magnificent and beautiful panoramas. Here are steep mountains, there deep and extensive valleys, and further on broad plateaus, the inhabitants of Colombia thus enjoying in the tropics every variety of temperature; for, as the savant Caldas says, in speaking of the different climates of this region, "it is only necessary to descend a distance of from ten to fourteen leagues, in order to pass from polar snow to the heat of Senegal."

The forests of Colombia abound in trees which are used for building purposes, for dyeing and for cabinet work; and balsamic plants and gums, medicinal and otherwise useful to man, are no less abundant. In the exhibition of natural products which took place in the capital of the Republic in 1870 there were more than 700 kinds of the above-mentioned woods.

The country also abounds in rich mines of gold and silver, in iron, copper, lead, emeralds, amethyst, rubies, rock crystal, marble, porphyry, jasper, jet, salt, coal, sulphur, lime, gypsum and other mineral products. On the coast, especially on the coasts of the Isthmus of Panama and the Bay of Rio Hacha, are found pearls and coral. Notwithstanding the abundance of these natural riches, the development of the material resources of the country has heretofore been almost completely neglected, and it may be affirmed that, with the exception of Ecuador and Bolivia, Colombia, of all the political divisions of Spanish America, supplies the smallest contingent to the traffic of the world. Various causes have contributed to produce so deplorable a state of backwardness; continual political dissensions, and the revolutions that have been their result, without either party having found it possible thus far to solve satisfactorily the problem of maintaining order and liberty, and thus bestowing on the country the blessing of a prosperous and lasting peace; the misdirected system of education adopted by the State, which tends to over-stimulate the imaginative faculties of the race, and to maintain the system of bureaucracy, which is one of the greatest scourges of those countries; the little attention given to scientific agriculture and to engineering in its divers applications; and finally, the diversified character of the surface of the country, crossed as it is by three of the chief ranges of the Andes, presenting unusual difficulties to transportation. This state of things must continue until foreign capital shall facilitate communication by constructing numerous lines of railways.

The Most Expensive in the End.

[Norristown Herald.]

Some one estimates that getting born costs the people of the United States $225,000,000 annually; getting married, $300,000; getting buried, $75,000,000. From this calculation it will be seen that the people of the United States can save millions of money annually by stop getting born and buried, and choosing the cheaper of the three evils—getting married.

INQUIRY BEGUN.

A Coroner's Investigation of the Late Horror.

No More Bodies Found in the Minneapolis Ruins.

The Identity of the Two Suicides Still a Mystery.

Newspaper Men of the Twin Cities Will Aid the Families of the Victims—A Noble Tribute.

By Telegraph to The Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 2.—No further victims of Saturday night's fire have been discovered. The Coroner this morning impaneled a jury and viewed the remains.

It has not yet been definitely ascertained whether or not there are any more bodies in the ruins of the Tribune building, it being impossible as yet to institute a thorough search. Who the men were who were seen to shoot themselves rather than suffer from the flames has not yet been decided. The women and children who went up into the building shortly before the fire broke out have turned up safe.

Measures for the relief of the sufferers and families of the victims are actively under way. Newspaper men have frequent occasion to report the bereavement of others, but it is seldom so many are taken from their own ranks at one time. Besides the Associated Press men, Igoe and Miles, the list of dead included Millman of the Tribune and Pickett of the Pioneer-Press, all good and true men. Tonight the newspaper men of the two cities held a meeting for the purpose of giving expression to their feelings in the matter, and during the day the ministers of Minneapolis, as well as the Board of Trade, adopted resolutions of sympathy.

MARTYRS TO DUTY.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 2.—The Enquirer has this editorial: "If anything can mitigate the horrors of a holocaust such as that in Minneapolis on Saturday night, it is such an example of heroism as was set by James Igoe, the unfortunate and undaunted operator. Well may bitter tears be shed by widow, children and friends because of the terribleness of his taking off, but they can always remember with pride that he died a brave man. His children need look nowhere else for a lesson in devotion to duty. He knew that beneath him fire was raging. He 'broke' his colleague in New York to tell him that the third story was on fire, adding, 'I'm on the seventh floor.' He knew that the only way of escape was by the narrow, winding stairway, yet he faltered only a moment. Then he gave the signal, "Go ahead," and, with the roaring furnace under foot, sat quietly at the key and took 200 words. He stuck to his post to the very last, and then flashed over the wires his last message: "Boys, I've to stand you off. I'm the only one left on the floor. Everybody is gone, and I can't stay any longer." Poor Igoe had stayed too long. He had been faithful till death. Igoe and Ogle! Well may telegraphers feel their hearts swell with pride when these names are mentioned. Igoe, the man; Ogle, the woman; both operators, both martyrs to duty."

The Ogle referred to above is Mrs. Ogle, the heroic woman who remained at her post in the Johnstown telegraph office, warning other points in the valley below, until she was swept away herself by the great flood.

THE CRONIN TRIAL.

More Rebuttal Testimony—The Arguments Resumed.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] At the opening of the Cronin case this morning testimony in rebuttal was presented [illegible]

Jake Lowenstein, Anton's brother, and Coughlin's partner on the detective force, swore that Coughlin owned two such knives.

Judge Wing then presented his argument to the jury in behalf of the defense.

Wing continued his review of the evidence, and, coming down to the two knives supposed to be Cronin's, said: "This question is very easily disposed of by two theories: First, Coughlin is either guilty or innocent: if innocent, he could not have had those knives, if they were Cronin's; if guilty, he would not have had them, if they were Cronin's. Those two plain propositions, in the mind of any reasoning man, would be an end of that knife episode, the last and grand climax that the State gave to the case of suspicion against these men." Judge Wing then took up the question of the alleged conspiracy in Camp 20. The State, he said, had to make out a conspiracy because this case could not be maintained in any court of justice against the defendants unless the fact of a conspiracy was established beyond all reasonable doubt. Speaking of the way in which to establish a conspiracy, he said: "You can consider all the proven facts, and from that infer the conspiracy, if the conspiracy is proven by that process beyond all reasonable doubt. It is fair and it is right under the law that when you are weighing any circumstance against Coughlin you should look at that circumstance in the light of law, but not in the light of the facts proven against other men. I object to this jury or Court taking a partly proven conspiracy and from it giving color and character to individual circumstances and acts proven against my client."

Wing then went on to say that he had never heard presented so absurd a theory of conspiracy as the State presents in this case. The State pretends, he said, that there are a multitude of circumstances which, if considered, lead to the conclusion of a conspiracy independent of Camp 20. That is not material. The question is whether the acts proven against the men on trial indicate that they were criminal participants in some conspiracy which resulted in Cronin's death. It may be that his death did result from a conspiracy, but that is not what you are here to try. If it is uncertain, then there must be an acquittal, and that there is uncertainty about it from inception to end is most conclusively demonstrated.

The speaker then went on to argue that the various circumstances adduced in evidence to show Coughlin's connection with the crime were consistent with the theory of his innocence. As to the noted white horse, even if it were the animal which drew Cronin to his death, still Coughlin might be innocent. He might not have known what the man from Michigan wanted it for.

A Clever Forger's Work.

Dr. Peters Now Believed to Have Perished in Africa—Gladstone Makes Another Speech—Foreign Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the Deputies today replying to an interrogation regarding the attitude of France toward the new Brazilian Government, Foreign Minister Spuller said that after the Provisional Government had placed itself in diplomatic communication with France, he had instructed the French agent to continue the same good relations with the Republic that had been maintained with the Empire. No official notification had yet been made on either side and the new Government of Brazil is probably awaiting the assembling of its Congress.

BRITISH LIBERALS.

Gladstone's Speech Before the Federation at Manchester.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Meetings of the Liberal Federation League were held at Manchester today. Gladstone delivered an address and said the Local Government bill did not meet the legitimate demand of the country. He advocated granting county councils with powers of taxation, control of police, liquor traffic, care of the poor, power to deal with the question of ground rents and to form district councils. He would possibly go farther and establish the parish principles of government, and thus convey to the rural population the first elements of their public education and create a sense of public duty, which is the higher aim of the statesman.

Provisions for Scottish and Welsh home rule, Gladstone said, must be dealt with by future Parliaments. He referred to his approaching eightieth birthday, and said it was not probable that he should have a direct interest in many future great reforms. Referring to the recent transactions in Crete and Armenia, he said it is difficult to deal with Turkey. He trusted the Government would not use honeyed words in matters involving property, liberty, life and female honor. The country would not admit apologies and palliations for cruelties and wickedness. Gladstone predicted a Liberal victory at the next election for members of Parliament.

BALFOUR'S PLAN.

He Explains His Irish College Scheme.

GLASGOW, Dec. 2.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Balfour, in a speech here today, set forth the ideas of the Government on the proposed Irish College. He declared, however, that he would never advise his colleagues to embark upon the arduous enterprise unless the following necessary conditions were fulfilled: First, the boon should be cordially accepted by the Irish people; second, the offer shall not be used as a political weapon by one party in Parliament against its opponents; third, Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen shall all concur in offering this good.

He confessed that he saw no likelihood that it would be accepted with those conditions. It was never any part of his intention that the Government should endow a Catholic theological chair.

A Short Wine Crop Causing an Advance in Prices.

Native Sons Renew Their Efforts to Purchase Sutter's Fort—A Talk with President Manvel—Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

TUCSON (Ariz.), Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The Surveyor-General has transmitted to the Commissioner of the General Land Office an adverse report on the Peralta grant, claimed by James Addison Reavis, and containing 5,000,000 acres of public lands, including the cities of Phœnix, Florence, Solomonville, etc., valued at $25,000,000. It was alleged that this grant was recommended by Fernando VI. of Spain in 1748, and issued to Miguel Peralta by the Viceroy of New Spain in 1758. Reavis first claimed the title; later set up title in his wife as a lineal heir of Peralta.

The Surveyor-General holds that the proof was a forgery and that there was a fraudulent insertion of papers in the archives and fabrication of documents. He recommends that the claim be not allowed, and urged a vigorous prosecution of the parties guilty of fabricating this fraudulent claim.

WINES ADVANCE.

A Short Crop Causing Prices to Advance Rapidly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The winemen, in discussing the present situation, say that wines have advanced recently from 20 to 33 per cent. Wines that were worth but 8 or 10 cents per gallon a short time ago are now bringing 15 cents. Arpad Haraszthy said the advance on new wine is due largely to a short crop.

"There has been a falling off," he said, "of at least 3,000,000 gallons. We need at least 15,000,000 and have but 12,000,000."

Kohler, of Kohler & Frohling, said: "The market is firm, and should the crop of 1890 be ever so big, it will not be sufficient to break the prices as they were before."

L. J. Rose of Los Angeles says: "Our county did not have one-fourth of a crop of grapes. This is because of the vine disease which has been raging for two or three years. Another reason for the advanced prices is the phylloxera. This disease has been bad in San José, Napa and Sonoma counties, and nearly everywhere else in the State, so far as I know, except in San Joaquin and Fresno counties."

Other dealers estimate the shortage at from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 gallons.

THE SANTA FE.

President Manvel Talks Hopefully of the Road's Finances.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Concerning the Santa Fé road's reorganization scheme, President Manvel said today: "George C. Magoun, as representative of the bankers interested in the road, has submitted a plan to the holders of Santa Fé mortgages by which the company's finances can be reorganized so that the taxes and rentals shall not exceed $7,500,000 a year, which is practically all the road earns. If the mortgage holders agree to the plan they will get new mortgages to run 100 years at 4 per cent. interest, instead of 6. To make up the loss they will sustain in this way they will be given income bonds at 5 per cent. in [illegible] interest to be paid if the road [illegible] Mr. Manvel leaves the city tomorrow, going first to Benson, Ariz., via Mojave and Guaymas, then to Guaymas, Mexico.

SUTTER'S FORT.

Renewed Efforts to Save the Famous Landmark.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Gen. J. G. Martive has received a letter from B. Merrill of Chicago, owner of the Sutter's-fort property, stating that he had fixed the price of it at $20,000, but he will contribute $2000 to the purchase fund.

F. D. Ryan, Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will issue an address to the various parlors of the Native Sons suggesting that each member of the order contribute $2 toward the purchase of the property.

Recovered Damages.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The suit of Charles Frankenthal against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to recover $50,000 damages for being ejected from a train at Suisun because his handwriting did not correspond with that alleged to be his on a ticket from Chicago, which he held, resulted this afternoon in the jury awarding him $850.

Smuggled Opium.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Twenty-six five-tael boxes of prepared opium were found secreted on the steamship Gaelic today. Twenty boxes belonged to a Chinese on his way to Guayaquil, South America, who claims he has a right to ship the drug so long as he made no attempt to land it here. A decision is awaited from Washington.

More Lines to Colorado.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Samuel Scovil, secretary of the Reorganization Committee of the Rio Grande Western road, arrived here today from New York. Concerning railway movements between Ogden and Denver, he says that, before long, this city will have two new broad-gauge connections through Colorado.

Signed for a Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Jack Dempsey and Billy McCarthy of Australia signed articles tonight and posted a forfeit of $250 to weigh in at 154 pounds on the night of their fight, in the latter part of January, the date to be hereafter fixed. The fight will be for $1800 and the world's middle-weight championship.

It Wasn't In.

[Detroit Free Press.]

"'Scuse me," he said as he leaned across the aisle of the car, "but I presume you are reading the morning paper?"

"Yes, sir," replied the other.

"Published here in the city?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will you have the kindness to tell me if you have as yet come across an article headed 'A Distinguished Visitor to Detroit. The Hon. Benjamin Perkins in Town. Let Us Do This Famous Man All Honor.'"

"No, sir, I haven't."

"Some oversight, probably. Probably be in tomorrow. That's all. Much obliged."

And he settled back, buttoned up his threadbare overcoat, and realized that 16 passengers were sizing him up and wishing that fame would also come to them.

You'll Have to Pay Our Charges.

[Fresno Republican.]

A merchant of this city a short time ago went to a railroad official to make arrangements for shipping 80 carloads of merchandise in one train from San Francisco. He asked the official whether he would not allow some rebate off the fixed price of $40 a carload on account of the extra large shipment at one time.

"I could get this stuff hauled down from the mountains probably for less money," suggested the merchant.

"But you want this particular lot in a hurry?" said the official.

"Yes."

"Then, as there is no competing line of railroad, you'll have to pay our charges. It's business, and you'd do the same if you were in my place."

"You see," pursued the merchant, grasping at a single ray of hope, "by the time the stuff gets to Fresno and the charges are paid on it there will be but very little margin left for me. Now, if you would knock off $2 or $3 on each carload it would give me a chance to make something."

The railroad man smiled. "Of course that would be business for you, but it wouldn't be business for us. If you were in the railroad business yourself you'd take all that the law allows."

A Great Man Hard to Find.

[Leeds Mercury.]

A comical experience of letter errantry has befallen Mr. Ruskin and a correspondent in Leith, who seems to have had something precious to say to him. A. P., 14 St. Andrew street, Leith, posted a letter on November 21, 1887, with this address: "The learned Mr. Ruskin, the famous author, England." Mr. Ruskin's abode of rest is at "Brantwood, Coniston, Ambleside," and it might have been charitably supposed that when this letter reached Edinburgh nothing would occur to mar its delivery promptly. As it happened, the letter was forwarded to Kendal, and there Mr. Ruskin had never been heard of. The Kendal postmaster tried London, and there it was thought that Mr. Ruskin lived at Rye Lane, Peckham. From office to office the letter went in the southeast and south districts of London, but all to no purpose; and then it occurred to the postoffice that Mr. Ruskin must be a near neighbor, and perhaps a friend of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. Alas! Birmingham knows not the sage of Coniston, and from that city Mr. Ruskin's letter went to Carlisle. From the border city the letter was again intrusted to the care of Edinburgh, and this time a happy thought occurred. The address was written large on the envelope, "Christ Church College, Oxford," and the postal authorities there gave the correct address to Brantwood.

Charming Lady Colin Campbell.

[Boston Transcript's London Letter.]

It was a charming picture altogether as Lady Colin came down the vista toward me. As I rose to meet her it was difficult to suppress the exclamation, "Ah! Diana of the Crossways!" Lady Colin is a very tall, slender, regal woman. Her height must be at least 5 feet 9, but so exactly proportioned is the whole form that there is no effect of overtopping us smaller mortals. Her complexion is a clear pale olive, with high color only in the lips, and she carries her head royally, with its crown of jet-black hair. The features are regular, the eyebrows delicately penciled. She was dressed in a severely plain green cloth costume trimmed with dark fur. The perfect lines of her form were not obscured by a single fold. The tall palm, bending graciously, inclining to this side or that, typified her. At the time of the trial a friend told me she had once met at dinner Lady Colin just after her marriage. My friend asked who the beauty was, and, on being told, she remarked that fate would no doubt give the coral-looking lady a history. In consequence very likely of that Lady Colin was inevitably destined to play a role like George Meredith's heroine.

The First Greeting.

[Terre Haute Express.]

When he stepped off the train he took in the surroundings with one long, comprehensive glance.

"Ah, the old town has changed somewhat in five years," was his first remark, "but still it looks like home. Ah! Home, sweet home! There's no place like it after all. I wonder who of all my old friends will be the first to greet the wanderer on his return to his native heath, where all his affections are centered—"

"Excuse me, but ain't you John Todge?"

"I am."

"I heard you were coming back today, and I thought I would be the first one to meet you as you came in."

"Yes?"

"Yes. I've got a little note here of yours for $30, with five years' interest, and if it's more convenient for you to settle than to be sued, why, all right."

There's no place like home.

The Ideal Juryman Found.

[Tacoma News.]

It is too bad that this juryman was not secured for the Cronin trial. He lives in Illinois, and can name but eight States of the Union and three Presidents. He thinks England is in Africa, and that Canada is somewhere beyond California. The ideal juryman has been found at last.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Road from Pasadena Through Garvanza.

GARVANZA, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Seeing a good deal of Pasadena news in your paper, I think I will tell you something of the road from Pasadena through Garvanza to Los Angeles, as some of your readers may not know that by turning to the right at the brick block in Garvanza you can follow Mountain avenue past the new Church of the Angels, and either turn to the left through a cut in the mountains, over the dam at the head of Mirror Lake, opposite the San Rafael winery, and across the arroyo to the bottom of California street, Pasadena; or from the church one can keep straight on and through the tunnel along the side of the lake to the same dam and road. I understand that the Garvanza bridge has been condemned, and that any one crossing does so at his own risk. If it is unsafe an accident would probably be a bad one. The road is not good, either, so some may like to travel by the new one I have told you of, and which runs through part of the San Rafael ranch. We are in hopes that the other boulevard will go through the north part of the ranch shortly, and this will open another road where it is wanted badly. As to the Garvanza bridge, if, as I said, it is unsafe, why is it not made secure, so that in the dim future,

"With weeping and with laughter
Still is the story told,
How well Horatius kept the bridge
In the brave days of old."

Faithfully, THE VAGRANT.

Bon Voyage!

[Harper's Bazar.]

"Many people down to see you off, Dumley?"

"Mostly relatives, I suppose?"

"No; tailors."

CHEAP GROCERIES

Why does F. J. SMITH, Central and Vernon avenues, sell goods cheaper than any other house in town? Because he owns his building and has no rent to pay; has no loss on bad bills, and his daily expenses do not exceed $3, while other stores have to add 5 per cent. for loss on bad bills, and their daily expenses are $7.50 to $8 per day. This, you see, enables him to sell cheaper than his competitors possibly can without a loss.

WE must have a good military company here. We have the men, and our very best young men should take hold of it.

ENGINEERS tell us that a big reservoir properly constructed in the mountains here is perfectly feasible. Once in a while Southern California, like other parts of the world, has its dry season. Such an one came in 1872, and the winter rainfall was but five inches. It is true that the onward march of agriculture has lessened the chances for such visitation, yet it may come, and the question deserves our attention. A reservoir is possible in some of the cañons that would enable us not only to have continually a greater supply of water and power in case of fires, but bridge over a time of drouth.

THE report is going around the prohibition press that Vice-President Morton closed the bar-room or wine-room in his huge apartment house, at Washington, at the request of the President and some of the Cabinet. In the first place, it would be a serious disappointment to the people of these United States if President Harrison gave official attention to such matters; secondly, it would be a gross impertinence in him to do it, and, thirdly, if he did do it, we know, or we think we know, enough of Mr. Morton, to believe that he would remind President Harrison that the little matter was none of his business. The truth is, that is merely another attempt to nag the Administration. The wily Democrat uses the unsuspecting Prohibitionist.

THIS Nation has the smallest standing army among all the great powers; but we are not respected less for it, and it is for this reason that the world knows that our reserve corps is amply sufficient to immediately put us on a good war footing. This reserve is made up of the companies raised in the various towns in the country. Pasadena is given an opportunity to display her patriotism, and it goes without saying that she will make a good showing. The State Government provides an armory, or $1200 per annum to hire one, $150 per annum for an armorer to care for the arms, and offers to provide the uniforms and equipments for those who will join the militia and take the oath, and keep themselves prepared for an emergency; in other words, drill once a month and attend the annual encampment of twelve days unless there is some very good reason why they should not. In fact, nothing could be fairer on the part of the State. It merely desires the services of the men in time of need.

THE Cross road is making rapid steps toward completion, and, if no obstacle is put in the way, will be in running order before many months. Its significance as a rapid-transit road can be readily appreciated and understood at present, but who shall say what the outcome will be in two or three years? We venture to say that the greatest benefits which will accrue are not yet in view. The line is the advance guard of a through route—of that there is no question—and, judging from the points indicated, the attractions are the extensive coalfields that are known to exist between here and Salt Lake, and in that general direction. These rich regions will be tapped by the railroad, and one result will be cheap fuel for Southern California, and especially Pasadena. The one great question here, after water, is fuel, and this will, to a great extent, be solved by this line that is to pass through the heart of this city.

IN the establishment or formation of a military company there are several points which should be considered. The idea is a serious one; the company is not gotten up to afford pleasure; it is the enlistment of honorable and patriotic men, who swear to stand by the country in time of need. The responsibility is a great one, and no half-way measures will do. No man should enter the company unless he is prepared to accept the conditions imposed. The first and most important is to insist upon a high standard of discipline; without this the company is a farce. This is a point upon which many military organizations break; the captain or lieutenant is perhaps the social inferior of some of the men, or there is a difference in education or something of the kind. More often officers and men are intimate friends, and the men refuse to look upon their "chum" with that respect which is demanded by the exigencies of the case. The militiaman, the moment he dons his uniform, puts aside his personality; he becomes at once responsible to the State, and it demands that he give his superior officer all the respect due his position. The relation between officer and man when on duty should be exactly similar to that between private and officer in the regular army. If these measures are insisted upon, perfect discipline maintained, the machinery will work smoothly, and good work will be the result. Then will come the social side. As well-equipped soldiers the men will have a pride in the corps—in their drilling; the armory will become a military club. Reading-rooms and a billiard room can be added, and the armorer should be a man who could give lessons in manly sports—fencing, boxing, broadsword exercise and others. The guardsmen will find that the town will take an interest in the matter, and their balls, receptions and dinners will be looked forward to with great interest and pleasure. Then the drill: the exercise produces the best results in young men; gives them a good carriage, a style and manner most desirable. In short, every young man should be willing to give three years of his life at least to this purpose.

THE DOCTORS

Will Meet in Convention in Pasadena Tomorrow.

The Southern California Medical Society will hold its fourth semi-annual meeting in Pasadena at Webster's Hall this week, commencing Wednesday, December 4th, and continuing two days.

The last meeting was held at San Diego, which was attended by Dr. W. L. McAllister of Pasadena, through whose efforts the society was induced to hold this meeting in this city. There will probably be about 75 of the leading physicians of Southern California, and their deliberations cannot fail to be productive of great good to the members of the society.

The programme for the opening day, tomorrow, is as follows:

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1889.

10 o'clock a.m.

Call to order.

Paper—"Shall We Dispense with the Pessary?" Dr. John R. Haynes, Los Angeles, chairman Committee of Gynæcology.
Paper, "The Effect of Tuxology," Dr. E. A. Fotheringham, Los Angeles.

THE PAINTER.

Social Life at the Hotel in the Highlands.

The guests of the Painter are up to the times, and succeed in having as much amusement as any one in the city.

The Committee on Entertainment for the season is F. M. Summers, chairman, Mrs. C. A. Burr and Miss Nellie Joy.

On Saturday evening the attraction was a donkey party, which created a world of fun. Two prizes were offered, one for a gentleman and one for a lady. Mrs. C. A. Burr won the lady's prize, Mr. W. M. Miller winning the gentleman's prize.

This evening progressive euchre will form a pleasant pastime.

PERSONAL.

Matson Hill and family arrived in the city Saturday evening, and are guests of the Painter.

Leslie Robison, a prominent business man of Illinois, will arrive at the Painter this week to join his family, who have preceded him two months.

The Armory.

That the State offers Pasadena $1350 a year to pay for an armory and a man to polish things up has developed the fact that several men in town own halls that are just what is wanted, and without doubt the question as to who will get the $1200 will become in the near future an interesting and momentous question.

There are several fine halls in the city that would be available for the purpose, and, if not, there can undoubtedly some one be found who would build a hall exactly suited to the purpose—especially if the rental of $1200, more or less, would be secured for a term of years. The hall should be large enough for drill purposes, cheerful, with good floor, well lighted, and so arranged that separate parlors, reading, billiards, wash and other rooms could be had on the same floor, though it is doubtful if any such halls are at present available in the city.

The Rainfall.

The rainfall this season certainly surpasses all precedent. Prior to the last rain the total precipitation had been 10.68 inches. The rainfall during the last storm was 2.69 inches, making a total precipitation for the season of 13.37 inches. This information is furnished by Dr. Rigg of Marengo avenue. The average annual rainfall for six years previous to the present season has been about 21 inches, and the heaviest rains usually fell in February and March. Either this is an exceptional season or the climatic conditions are changing, bringing a heavier and more evenly-distributed rainfall in this section.

Famous Pasadena.

A correspondent writes:

"During my visit East I noticed in a New York city paper an advertisement headed 'Pasadena.' Thinking that the enterprise of our Board of Trade had reached that far, I investigated the matter and found that it was a new townsite laid out in New Jersey, near New York city. The party naming it evidently wished to pay a tribute to our beautiful city."

BREVITIES.

"Charity covereth a multitude of sins."

Young Bros. have moved into No. 58 East Colorado street.

The Cross road is again badly washed near the Raymond.

Fairs by church and other societies crowd upon us thick and fast.

Old Baldy is snow crowned, evidently to the depth of several feet.

The Pickwick Club held its regular monthly business meeting last night.

A high board fence is being built about the lot north of the Webster Hotel.

There will be a practice game of foot-ball at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon.

It has remained for a Pasadena paper to come out on two different dates at the same time.

These frequent rains should have the effect of causing the citrus trees to be in full bloom within six weeks.

Some Pasadenians are organizing for the purpose of operating mining property in the San Gabriel Cañon.

Work on the extension of the Raymond-avenue sewer, north of Colorado street, was commenced yesterday afternoon.

The rain ceased Monday morning, the sun rising in an almost cloudless sky, finding all Nature smiling and bright.

The North Pasadena Reading Society will discuss Tennyson on Friday evening, at the residence of J. A. Buchanan.

F. B. Wetherby and Miss Maria Visscher will be united in marriage at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening.

The San Bernardino express train, due at 9:23 yesterday morning, was delayed two hours by a washout near Etiwanda.

The ladies of the Baptist Church of South Pasadena will give a Martha Washington party this evening, in their hall.

The Arroyo Seco road, in Garvanza, is again closed, this time rendered temporarily impassable by the washing out of the roadway.

The California Central will soon be obliged to put on either additional cars or run more frequent trains to meet the increasing traffic.

A sort of observatory has been completed on top of the Webster Hotel. This is the highest point that can be reached in the center of the city.

Pasadena people who go to Los Angeles now almost universally take the cable road at Downey avenue. It is a good thing for the cable company.

The ticket office of the Southern Pacific has been removed from the Exchange block to the Wood & Banbury building, East Colorado street.

The Board of Trade will probably consider, among other things, the Mt. Wilson trail matter, with a view to fixing up the old bill affair between Judge Eaton and the citizens.

The annual supper of the First Congregational Church will be given Thursday evening in the church parlors, by the gentlemen of the church this time instead of the ladies.

It is doubtful if Pasadena ever saw so many new hats as at this time. Every other man one meets has on a new head tile. The Sheriff's sale at Machin's is responsible for this.

The rolling stock for the Cross road, or at least a portion of it, is now in Los Angeles, on the track of the Southern Pacific Railroad. It looks more and more like business every day.

Samuel Wright has sold for Emma D. Richards, through her attorney in fact, Charles R. Davis, her house and lot on Cypress avenue, north of Mountain street; consideration, $1500.

The military company should now drill regularly, as the State promises to do so much for the company. There seems to be a disposition to hold caucuses among the boys. An election will soon be in order.

Engineers have laid out the line of the sewer extension on North Raymond avenue, and work will be commenced on it at once. A considerable quantity of pipe is on hand and the proposed work will doubtless be quickly accomplished.

Those having a disposition to aid in creating a fund to reimburse Judge B. S. Eaton, for the shortage on the Mt. Wilson trail, may leave their subscriptions at the office of the treasurer of the Board of Trade, M. E. Wood, in Foster's book store.

All members of the Board of Trade are requested to be present at the meeting this afternoon. As meetings are held but once a month, and as matters of importance to the community are to come before the meeting, the attendance should be large.

The overland train, east bound, yesterday morning, was delayed near Etiwanda by a washout. The wash was but eight or nine feet wide, but it was considered inexpedient to try and jump it. The damage was temporarily repaired by the use of ties.

The Central Telephone office in this city will be removed from its present location to rooms in the J. W. Wood building. This removal will cause no little amount of work, as there are over 200 wires to be changed from one side of Colorado street to the opposite side.

The Ladies' League of the Universalist Church will open a fair in the vestry-room of the church on Thursday, continuing to Friday evening. The attendance will no doubt be large, as the entertainments given by this society are always of an enjoyable sort. Dinner and supper will be served.

W. Conrad, the clothier, in response to the request which appeared in THE TIMES, soliciting clothing and blankets for distribution among the poor by the Charity Organization Society, has donated five good blankets and five warm comforts. "Go thou and do likewise."

On Wednesday, December 4th, Rev. G. A. Ottman will have completed the first year of his rectorship of All Saints' Church. Mr. Ottman has found Pasadena a delightful home, and has made many warm friends here. The members of the parish will tender a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Ottman, at the church, on Wednesday evening.

The turkey-shoot which will take place on Christmas day calls to mind a turkey-shoot of years ago, where the distance was 100 yards. A number of the marksmen were "crack shots," but none of them got the bird. The man who put up the turkey would frequently sing out, "Feathers, but no blood;" but the turkey's life was spared. Later it was discovered that the bird had been ingeniously made of iron and feathers.

PERSONAL.

T. W. Gottman was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Capt. John Cross was a visitor in town yesterday, looking after his railroad business.

A. P. Welcome, formerly of Pasadena, now of Los Angeles, was in the city yesterday.

E. S. Frost and family arrived from Biddeford, Me., yesterday morning after an absence of six months.

W. E. Woodrow of Louisville, Ky., is the guest of Mrs. G. W. Glover at Hermosa Vista, South Pasadena.

Mrs. John A. Peck and maid arrived in the city on Saturday evening from New York, and are the guests of Mrs. H. H. Rose for the season.

H. J. Young, captain of the eleven of the foot-ball team of Pasadena and Guy Woodward, the "potato king," have gone to Lordsburg.

The report that Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCandliss and Miss Wotkyns returned on the last steamer was an error. They decided to remain until the next boat.

Mr. Corday, formerly a merchant tailor of this city, has made a flying visit to Pasadena. He returned to Bakersfield, where he now has business, last evening.

M. T. Whittaker, who is well known in this city through connection with the Raymond addition, is slowly recovering from a severe burn. It will be from six weeks to two months before he can get out, however.

Dr. Hayes of Pennsylvania, who recently bought the house and lot owned by Ed L. Farris at the corner of Walnut street and Los Robles avenue, will occupy the house as a residence with his family in a few days. The furniture is now expected daily from the East.

The Raymond.

Affairs at the Raymond last evening were rather quiet. The Committee on Entertainment met last evening and arranged a programme of amusements for several days in advance.

This evening a drive whist party will be given, which promises some entertainment.

On some evening during the week a "pumpkin party" will be given, a prize being awarded to the one who can guess the nearest to the number of seeds in one of these delicious golden fruits of the San Gabriel Valley.

On Thursday evening the physicians of the Medical Association of Southern California will congregate at the hotel.

Brutal Attack on the Chrysanthemum.

[Sacramento Bee.]

The Fresno Republican "has at us" with the following:

The Sacramento Bee is opposed to chrysanthemum fairs on general principles, and doesn't mince words in saying so. Do they grow chrysanthemums in the N.C.B.?

Well, we should rather trombone that they do. In fact, Sacramento might well be called Chrysanthemumville. And yet that flower is about as ruggedly homely and as obtrusively offensive to the nasal organs as any weed we wot of. There is no accounting for tastes, however. The fads of the present day will die a natural death, and be succeeded by others equally as senseless. The taste for chrysanthemums is like that for limburger cheese and sauerkraut—entirely an acquired one.

A Thankful Editor.

[Sacramento Bee.]

What we have to be thankful for would occupy a volume. What we cannot be thankful for could be compressed within a small compass. The chronic dyspeptic should have no voice in the day at all. Manifold blessings have been and continue to be showered upon us. Seed time and harvest time come along with unfailing regularity. Jupiter Pluvius never neglects to wait on Ceres, and Cornucopia is ever overflowing with the good things of earth. A man who could be sad-eyed and sorrowful in this valley on such a day would weep in heaven because figs did not grow on harps. . . . We are glad that we are alive, and glad that we live in Sacramento. That comprises all the happiness that could be squeezed into one short existence.

This Is a Queer Question.

[San Diego Union.]

Uncle Rufus Hatch started out in life as a locomotive fireman, and has accumulated $8,000,000; but just think what he might have accumulated if he had been a County Supervisor or a contracting member of a board of education.

A COMBINATION OFFER.

How to Get the 12-page Weekly Mirror Free!

For the purpose of increasing still further the circulation of the Los Angeles Weekly Mirror, and enabling it to do more "missionary work" in the East, beyond the seas, and generally abroad, the Times-Mirror Company has concluded to make the following unexampled premium offers, good until January 1, 1890:

1. Any city subscriber to The Times, or any person not now a city subscriber, who will pay $10.20 in advance for one year's subscription—the paper to be delivered by carrier—can also have the Weekly Mirror mailed to any address in the United States for one year, free of charge; and for $5.10 in advance The Times will be served by carrier for six months, and the Weekly Mirror mailed free for the same time to any address in the United States.

2. Any mail subscriber to The Times, or any other person residing outside the city, who will pay $9 in advance for one year's subscription to the daily, can also have the Weekly Mirror mailed free for the same time to any address in the United States; and for $4.50 in advance, The Times, including the Mirror, will be mailed free to any address, or to separate addresses, in the United States, for six months.

Remember that the above cash-in-advance offers are made as premiums, and do not apply for any shorter period than six months.

Where papers are to be mailed to foreign countries, the difference in postage must be added to the subscription price.

Send the story of Southern California's splendid possibilities and actualities to the remotest parts!

The Mirror is a large 12-page paper, every number filled with valuable information about Los Angeles and Southern California.

THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT alone is worth more than the price of subscripiton.

THE 3D OF DECEMBER IN HISTORY.

HENRY ALEXANDER WISE, Governor of Virginia when John Brown was hanged, was born December 3, 1806. He was admitted to the bar and sent as United States Minister to Brazil in 1844. Wise was elected Governor of Virginia in 1855, and appointed a brigadier-general in the Confederate army in 1861. Gov. Wise died September 12, 1876. His son, John S. Wise, was the Readjuster candidate for Governor when Gen. Fitzhugh Lee was elected two years ago.

GEN. GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN was born in Philadelphia, December 3, 1826, graduated at West Point in 1846, and served in the Mexican war as Lieutenant of Engineers. In 1861 he was the Federal commander in Western Virginia, where he gained the victories of Rich Mountain and Cheat River. President Lincoln appointed him to the chief command a few days after the battle of Bull Run. He gained a victory at Fair Oaks May 31, 1862, over Gen. J. E. Johnston; but afterward fought the battles of Mechanicsville, Savage's Station, White Oak Swamp, Gaines's Mill and Malvern Hill, and was compelled to retreat and give up the plan of reducing Richmond. He was subsequently superseded by Gen. Pope. He was, however, recalled to the command of the army September 2, 1862, and on the 17th of the same month defeated Gen. Lee in the battle of Antietam. He was relieved of command on the 5th of the ensuing November. He was the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1864, and was afterward elected Governor of New Jersey.

To drive the Confederates out of Tennessee, Gen. Burnside in October, 1863, scattered his forces which, Bragg perceiving, sent Longstreet to seize KNOXVILLE. The Confederates advanced swiftly and secretly and struck a startling blow which compelled Burnside to concentrate his forces at Knoxville. A hill commanding the southwest approach was attacked on November 10th, Gen. W. P. Sanders being killed and his Federal force driven back. A cavalry force was sent to cut off Burnside's supplies and line of retreat. On November 25th, the Confederates attacked a hill on the south side of the Holston River, and though repulsed, occupied a hill lower down, where they planted a battery which commanded a fort at Knoxville. The news of Bragg's defeat at Missionary Ridge, on November 25th, and the expectation of Grant's speedy arrival in his rear, induced Longstreet to storm Knoxville. Saturday night, November 28th, was dark and stormy, and at 11 o'clock Longstreet assailed the chief work, Fort Sanders. He seized the rifle pits, and at dawn opened a furious cannonade, under the cover of which his men pushed forward, only to be mowed down by the double-shotted guns from the fort. They passed the ditch and attempted to scale the parapet, but were repulsed. As Sherman was near, Longstreet was forced to abandon the siege, which he accordingly raised the 3d of December.

Never was there so remarkable an instance of genius defrauded as that of SAMUEL CROMPTON, the inventor of the mule for spinning cotton, who was born December 3, 1753, near Bolton, England. Until the close of the last century muslins were all imported from India, as English spinners could not produce yarn fine enough for delicate fabrics. To avoid the hostility of the workmen, who were opposed to all inventions, Crompton worked at his idea silently and secretly, and mostly at night. The yarn produced by his invention was so superior to every other that he found it impossible to meet the demands of purchasers. His place was beset by rivals eager to discover his secret, and one adventurer hid himself for some days in the loft and watched Crompton at work through a gimlet hole in the ceiling. Unfortunately Crompton, who was not a man of the world, fell an easy victim to sharpers. Some manufacturers in Manchester, Bolton and other places agreed to subscribe to a fund for Crompton's benefit if he would give his

The Executive Committee of the Editorial Association of Southern California will meet at 10 o'clock this morning, at the parlors of the Nadeau Hotel, for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming January meeting.

The County Recorder reports the following business for the month of November: Whole number of instruments filed, 2281; number of folios, 17,807; amount of fees received, $3348.25; number of transfers, 1221; total consideration, $1,642,481.

An assembly of ladies and gentlemen, formerly residents of New Orleans, met last Sunday at the residence of Mrs. J. Apfel, 211 East Fifth street, and organized a social club. The next meeting is to be held on the 8th inst., at 4 p.m., at the same place to effect a permanent organization. All Louisianians are invited.

There has not been a single arrival at the County Jail for the past three days, something that has not happened since long before the boom. At the police station no arrests were made until after 7 o'clock. The officers say that never before in the history of the city has there been so little doing in criminal circles as at present.

B. Fehnemann, special agent of the State Board of Forestry, went north last evening. After completing the business assigned him Mr. Fehnemann, in his capacity as State organizer of the Oro Fino Club, will consummate arrangements for the thorough organization of that club throughout every county in the State, for the purpose of securing an active and energetic corps of workers for the next campaign.

Brunson, aged 23, and Blanche R. Westcott, of Artesia; Harry Brownson, Jr., aged 31, of Los Angeles, and Mamie B. Thompson, aged 22, of Pasadena; F. Anzionnat, aged 29, and Fannie Boilier, aged 24, city.

J. M. Leland, who called at the TIMES office last evening, disputes the statement contained in a historical article in THE TIMES yesterday to the effect that Old John Brown was born in Torrington, Ct. Mr. Leland says that Brown was born in North Elba, Essex county, N. Y., where the remains of his ancestors are buried, and where his own body "lies a-moldering" according to the version of the song. Unfortunately for Mr. Leland's statement, several encyclopedias are against him, all stating that Brown's birthplace was Torrington, Ct.

Last night about 8 o'clock an Italian named Antone Fatourch was brought to the police station by Officer Stephenson, suffering from an ugly cut in the head, inflicted with a bottle in the hands of another Italian named L. Constante, who was also brought in and locked up on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The two men were playing ball in the Italian saloon on Buena Vista street, just above Bellevue avenue, when a dispute arose between them, and Fatourch got smashed. The Police Surgeon dressed the man's wound, and he was locked up to appear against Constante this morning as a witness.

H. Suskind, an old-time merchant of Los Angeles, has just returned from an eight months' trip abroad with his family, during which he visited Germany, France and England, making an extensive swing around the circle. He saw the Paris Exposition and did the Eiffel Tower to the very top. Altogether, he had so much sight-seeing that he is glad to get back home again. He says that Southern California is well known abroad, and it is classed with Italy as a place of resort. Los Angeles is frequently alluded to and people in foreign countries seem to be pretty well posted about this place. Mr. Suskind brought back with him some beautiful souvenirs of his trip.

GEO. A. WERNER.

Geo. A. Werner, the well known book engraver, of 551 California St., S. F., writes to the Edwin W Joy Co., that his wife has been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla for months for liver trouble and indigestion with splendid results. He says, "we have found it invaluable for keeping the system regulated. It divides the load with a dyspepsial stomach and replaces the distressing sense of fulness and oppression with a feeling of ease and relief. It is a perfect liver and bowel regulator. We have both been taking it for months. It is good to have handy."

PEOPLE'S STORE,
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2, 1889.

The determination on our part to leave nothing undone, exerting every effort to make our holiday display acceptable, has already borne fruit. We hear on all sides that our assortment, our prices and our goods are far ahead in variety and worth of any establishment in town. We go upon the old-time principle of "What's worth doing is worth doing well," and acting thereon our efforts to please have struck the popular accord and favor.

The throngs that have visited our Toy Department already give evidence that a brisk early trade can be expected. Our stock in this line is unusually large, so we have no fears but that we will be able to keep pace with our patrons and resupply the selling articles.

OXYGEN antagonizes and thoroughly removes every poison of the system from the blood, no matter from what cause it exists or how long it has continued, and is efficacious in the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Nervous Prostration, Insomnia and Dyspepsia, etc., together with any poisoned condition of the blood.

In all cases of catarrh and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs, where the system suffers from the deleterious effects of scrofula or other vitiated condition of the blood, local treatment is invariably conjoined with constitutional remedies.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless the disease has advanced to the chest and both lungs are seriously involved. The inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in connecting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address
